

Don't Forget the Lyrics

(Two teams of 3 / 4 players. Engineering should have videos, music and overlay ready)

Welcome to Gameshows at Dawnguard

'Tis I, Noy2222, your humble writer.

For our first game, since you've yet to be mentally and physically exhausted, I've decided to arrange a singing competition.

The rules are as followed - Separate yourselves into two teams.

You will be presented with a variety of categories, vaguely indicating a song that's hidden behind them. The first team will pick a category and reveal a song and a number of words that are missing from it. They will nominate the person of their group who believes they know best the lyrics of the song.

The chosen person and only the chosen person would karaoke the song. Don't worry, the lyrics are all on screen.

At some point, the music will stop and the words will disappear. The singer (and only the singer) will have to decide what the missing lyrics are and lock in their answer.

A correct response awards the team with 3 points.

The judges (James and Engineering) may award 1 point for a close answer and/or good performance of the song.

After the points have been awarded (or not) it is the other team's turn and back and forth until all songs have been sung.

The team with the most points wins!

(For reference, all the songs and lyrics. For James' eyes only)

For the good of all of us

Except the ones who are dead

But there's no sense crying over every mistake

You just keep on trying till you run out of cake

And the science gets done and you make a neat gun

For the people who are still alive

I'm not even angry

I'm being so sincere right now

Even though you broke my heart

And killed me

And tore me to pieces

And threw every piece into a fire

As they burned it hurt because

I was so happy for you
